Richard Leong is a diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) consultant and leadership development coach who serves on the board of directors of Act To Change. Act To Change is a national 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization working to address bullying, including in the Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) community.

As a former teacher, Richard is passionate about guiding others to think critically about their own identities and larger systems of oppression including race and racism. Richard has a BA in Sociology from Columbia University and an M.Ed in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Minnesota - Twin Cities.

He can be reached via Instagram @adjustyourboba